Every day 30,000 children die from poverty related causes. As a nation, Australians do care. We are among the most generous givers to overseas aid in the world. But are our political leaders doing enough in the fight against global poverty? As you are a concerned member of the community or supporter of a Make Poverty History member organisation, we invite you to hear how your local political representatives and their parties are confronting this important moral issue.

Come and meet our special guest, Kris Massie, from the Adelaide Crows, who will talk about his personal commitment to people living in poverty.

MAKE POVERTY HISTORY

Make Poverty History is a coalition of more than 60 aid agencies, community groups and religious organisations. Ref#5285
